Everyone should feel comfortable at their workplace and so King’s Careers & Employability understand that finding LGBTQ+-positive employers might be a concern and we are here to help! We want to ensure you have the best support possible.

We think the following websites are useful for starting your job search:

Stonewall 'Starting Out: Lesbian, Gay & Bisexual Careers Guide’

This is a great website to start your search. Stonewall have compiled a list of inclusive organisations who strive to ensure all employees, regardless of sexual orientation, are treated equally and are able to perform to their full potential. These employers have chosen to be included so they really are that committed to equality! You can also find a hard copy of this on our bookshelves.

King’s LGBTQ Society

If you’re looking to meet like-minded people, King’s College London LGBTQ society exists to provide a safe environment for King’s LGBTQ+ students and their friends to meet, campaign on behalf of the LGBTQ+ student community and promote awareness of relevant issues.

The Diversity Group

The Diversity Group is widely regarded as one of the most proactive promoters of Equality & Diversity in Britain, with various initiatives to improve and promote equal opportunities. Here you can find advice & support, job opportunities and an events listing.

Proud Employers

A jobsite filled with opportunities from LGBTQ+-friendly employers. This is run by Stonewall itself in a bid to help employers attract more diverse staff to their workplaces.

GLADD: Gay & Lesbian Association of Doctors & Dentists

As a student you are welcome to join this association and meet other LGBTQ+ medics and dentists in your area. They also organise a mentoring scheme who can help you with your career choices.

BLAGG: Bar Lesbian and Gay Group

BLAGG is a support network for those at the Bar or for those entering the profession, whether you are looking to just enjoy the social side or are seeking information and advice.

Inside & Out

This is an annual event specifically designed to help LGBTQ+ undergraduates learn about internships in the investment banking industry. The event runs annually, usually in November.

What’s it got to do with you?

If you are wondering why an employer would even want to know about your sexuality, ‘What’s it got to do with you?’ is a downloadable guide outlining exactly why employers have equal opportunities forms and why you should complete them.

King’s Careers & Employability are here to help you shape your future with your hunt for a job or further study. We run skills development programmes, careers fairs and offer one-to-one appointments for application or CV advice, or just having a discussion about where you want to go next. Keep an eye on our events page for when employers will be on campus. We also have active Facebook and Twitter accounts which are updated regularly with news and events.
